

MacLumber II ENDURING BEAUTY

Other wood polymer composites not only lack a true wood-like appearance, they are highly susceptible to fading-taking on a gray hue over time.

J-MAC's new MacLumber II line of wood polymer composite decking is set apart from the rest by design. Not only does MacLumber II have a near flawless wood-like appearance, its wood grain effect grows stronger over time, creating slight color variations which accentuate its beauty.*

Available in three rich shades - Redwood, Cypress Gray and Natural Oak - and made from the highest quality virgin polymer and wood materials, MacLumber is resistant to fading, mildew and termites.

In fact, you could say that this innovative material is more than just low maintenance decking, it's a work of art sure to complement the beauty of your home.
